Our highest endeavour is to develop free human beings who are able of themselves to impart purpose and direction to their lives. The need for imagination, a sense of truth, and a feeling of responsibility-these three forces are the very nerve of education - R. Steiner

What is Waldorf?

The overarching goal of Waldorf education is to develop free, morally responsible and integrated children equipped with a high degree of social competence. Therefore, the Waldorf curriculum is designed to be responsive to the various phases of a child's development. Holistic and individual encouragement is one of the most important characteristics of Waldorf education. We include practical, hands-on, artistic and creative activities. African heritage forms part of the syllabus.

Our curriculum is compatible with the South African school curriculum.
